BACKGROUND

The Office of the Sheriff was founded on April 22, 1696, when Maryland was a colony of England. The Constitution of the State of Maryland, Article IV-Judiciary Department, Part VII entitled *Sheriffs*, Section 44 establishes that each county and Baltimore City shall elect a person to serve as Sheriff. Therefore, the Sheriff is the Chief Constitutional Law Enforcement Officer. The individual is required to be above the age of twenty-five years and a resident of the State for at least five years preceding the election to the office of Sheriff. The term of the office is four (4) years, with no limit on the number of consecutive terms for which the individual may run. The power and salary of the position—which cannot be altered during a term of office—are determined by the State Legislature.

The Office of the Sheriff facilitates safe court operations, provides criminal justice services that ensure the impartial and professional processing of court orders, assists victims of domestic violence, safely apprehends and transports prisoners, and is responsible for extraditing fugitives from other states.
